Show Stewards/Technical Delegates:

GHSA rules requires that a Show Steward (Technical Delegate) be present at all events to ensure all rules and regulations are being followed and to be easily accessible to exhibitors with questions related to rules and regulations. Show stewards are an industry standard and help to ensure a level and safe playing field for all exhibitors.

The following are required responsibilities and duties of Show Stewards:

- a) Safeguard the welfare of the horses.
- b) Protect the interests of competitors, judges, and competition management.
- c) When they become aware of a potential violation of GHSA rules, without waiting for a protest, investigate and notify the appropriate individual or official, and, if not rectified, issue a warning and/or file a charge.
- d) Assist competition management to ensure that every effort is made to provide for safe competition including assisting in setting up practice equipment and competition courses.
- e) Report on the suitability of the competition facilities in all aspects, including stabling. The steward must commence his duties early enough to deal with these matters. The show steward should also evaluate potentially unsafe conditions related to the show (e.g., poor footing in the warm-up area and bring to attention of show management to correct).
- f) A steward should clearly understand that he/she has no authority in connection with the management or the judging of a competition.

Answer exhibitors' questions about rules.

- a) Stewards may be appointed by show management, and may be the show manager themselves, or a designated individual, which may or may not have another role as a competition official (such as the paddock master).
- b) No steward shall officiate in any competition in which any member of his family or any of his clients are judging, serving as the show manager or secretary, or creates a conflict of interest with the duties mentioned here in. Stewards may not take part as a trainer, coach, lessor, lessee, exhibitor, rider, driver, or handler at a competition where the steward is officiating.

GHSA Supplement

- c) Stewards may not be the houseguest of a person who is exhibiting, or whose family is exhibiting, at the same competition.
- d) Stewards may not officiate unless their client who is showing terminates the relationship 60 days prior to the competition. A Steward may also not operate any business (i.e., tack shop, braiding business, etc.) at the same competition where he or she is officiating.
- e) No steward may officiate for more than three consecutive years at the same competition or at more than three consecutive competitions run by the same governing body, Board of Directors, or Licensee.
- f) The Steward's decision regarding practice equipment in the warm-up and/or schooling areas is final along with permissible tack & attire for the entire Competition. (Exception for Dressage: The final authority rests with Competition Management).
- g) Stewards may not officiate at more than one competition at the same time.
- h) Stewards should retain copies of steward/technical delegate reports, and supporting documentation, for a period of three years.

Special Duties of Steward:

In addition to the general responsibilities, a steward may:

- a) Help supervise the technical conduct of the competition, including after he has indicated to the show manager that he is satisfied with the arrangements. Until he has indicated to the show manager that he is satisfied with all the arrangements, the authority of the technical delegate shall be absolute.
- b) Inspect the courses and arenas to ensure that the technical details are in accordance with the rules and regulations.
- c) Instruct the show manager to make any alterations to the course(s) or arena(s) or to any technical detail associated with the conduct of the competition which he considers necessary.

Exhibitor Warnings by Show Management or the Steward:

- a) A warning may be issued by a Steward or Competition Official working in any of these capacities at the competition to any competitor, spectator, or participant for improper conduct, or for noncompliance with the rules, provided the issuer considers the conduct not severe enough to cause the issuer to file formal Charges.
- b) A warning may also be given to a competitor if it is found the offense is by a competitor's family member, friend, or staff of the competitor that is directly associated with the competitor while at the show.
- c) All warnings will be documented by the Show Manager.

GHSA Warm-up arena requirement:

- a) All GHSA Shows must have a warm-up arena, that is clear of obstacles. However, an obstacle may be set up in the warmup arena for a class such as Trail but the warmup obstacle must be taken down after the class is complete in the main show arena. (For example, a warmup arena used just prior to a trail class may have ground poles or an obstacle for competitors to warm up with, but the ground poles/obstacle must be removed promptly after the trail class in the show arena has completed.)
- b) GHSA utilizes these definitions according to the broader industry (USEF) Standards:
